

The micro USB port is used to charge the battery. The larger USB port supplies power. When the unit is charging the top will flash red. When it is fully charged it will be a solid red. When the unit is powering a device the top will light up blue.